Social media has played an ever-increasing role in our lives, and as a result, it has become pivotal in the college athlete recruiting process. Most college coaches that 2aDays has interviewed state that they look at social media when considering recruits:

Health code

- Random drug testing-urine test
- Contracted company
- If positive, parent will be notified,
  - If on a prescription, parent will call contracted company ( School will provide the phone number) and provide prescription information, contracted company determines pass or fail
  - If the contracted company does not clear prescription or student is not on a prescription, the parent will be notified and be given the option to have that sample retested at a lab. The student is eligible for play until those results are returned by the contracted company. Contracted company reports pass or fail to the school.
